Defendants.

Nevertheless, the court requested Deputy Attorney General Benjamin Johnson to investigate whether Inmate Csech has received recent physical and mental evaluations from the Nevada Department of Corrections (NDOC) institution where he has been incarcerated for several years, i.e., Northern Nevada Correctional Center (NNCC). If Mr. Csech had not been evaluated recently, the court directed

1 Deputy Attorney Johnson to request NNCC to undertake such evaluations as expeditiously as possible.
 2 (Doc. # 43 at 2-3.)

3 On October 23, 2014, Defendants filed a Notice of Compliance advising the court Plaintiff Csech 4 had been scheduled for an appointment for a physical evaluation "but he refused the appointment and 5 was a no show." (Doc. # 43.) More specifically, according to a Declaration of NNCC Director of Nursing 6 Terri Jacobs, Inmate Csech "was scheduled for a physical exam on October 8, 2014. The appointment 7 was posted in the unit and Mr. Csech was told by a nurse about the appointment in the yard. * * * The 8 unit was called but Mr. Csech was still a no show." (Doc. # 43-1.)

9 At the October 27, 2014 status conference, the court expressed its concern about Plaintiff's ability 10 to understand the purpose of the court's hearing. Mr. Csech seemed to have difficulty understanding the 11 questions put to him by the court and also not being able to articulate comprehensible responses. The 12 court is mindful of the possibility Plaintiff may be exaggerating or magnifying his medical or mental 13 condition. In that regard, Plaintiff recently filed a lucid and understandable "Motion for Scheduling 14 Management." (Doc. # 40, September 3, 2014.) At the court's prior status conference on September 29, 15 2014, although at times Plaintiff's speech was somewhat difficult to understand and his reasoning 16 occasionally obtuse, he was able to fairly reasonably articulate position. (Doc. # 42.) Nevertheless, the 17 court detected what could be interpreted as a marked decline of Plaintiff's mental status at the most 18 recent hearing (October 27, 2014) and determined this should be investigated further.<sup>2</sup>

19 In light of Plaintiff's possible mental difficulties, the court addressed the recent decision of the 20 Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals in Davis v. Walker, 745 F.3d 1303 (2014). The Court of Appeals directed 21 that where the district court determines a pro se plaintiff is incompetent, the district court "generally 22 should appoint a guardian ad litem under Rule 17(c)." Alternatively, the Ninth Circuit held the district 23 court should consider appointing counsel pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1915(e)(1). 745 F.3d at 1310-1311.

 25 <sup>2</sup> The court is aware of multiple other civil right cases filed by Plaintiff (Csech v. Quinn, 3:13-cv-00263-MMD-
 26 WGC; Csech v. Perry, 3:13-cv-000289-MMD-VPC; Csech v. Gedney, 3:13-cv-00328-RCJ-VPC; Csech v. Humphreys, 27 3:13-cv-00343-RCJ-WGC; Csech v. Gedney, 3:13-cv-00392-RCJ-WGC; and Csech v. McDaniel, 3:13-cv-00631-RCJ-VPC.
 28 In one of these matters, Csech v. Perry, 3:13-cv-000289-MMD-VPC, Plaintiff has recently filed documents which are lucid and understandable, although not necessarily of legal merit. See, e.g., Doc # 58, Plaintiff's September 16, 2014 Motion for Default Judgment; Doc. # 57, a September 12, 2014 thirty-two page memorandum of points and authorities in reply to defendants' response to motion to compel; and Doc. # 56, the September 12, 2014 Reply to Defendants' response to his motion for sanctions.

1 The first step in this analysis is for the district court to determine whether the pro se litigant, in 2 this case Mr. Csech, is mentally incompetent. (Id. at 1310.) In that respect, the court inquired of Deputy 3 Attorney General John L. Ward (who was appearing on behalf of Deputy Attorney General Johnson),<sup>3</sup>
4 whether Nevada Department of Corrections and Northern Nevada Correctional Center could again
5 attempt to undertake a physical and mental status examination of Plaintiff to address Plaintiff's 6 competency. Mr. Ward indicated NDOC/NNCC should be able to undertake the necessary examinations.

7 The court therefore requested Mr. Ward to coordinate medical and mental status examinations 8 of Plaintiff Robert Csech with NNCC, to advise Plaintiff when those examinations are scheduled and 9 to have NNCC escort Plaintiff to those examinations. The Defendants were further directed to thereafter 10 file reports of those examinations with the court under seal and to provide Plaintiff an opportunity to 11 review those reports in a manner consistent with NNCC policies and procedures.

12 The court scheduled a status conference on the reports for January 6, 2015, at 10:00 a.m.
13 Pending further order of the court, discovery in this matter is STAYED until the court can address 14 Plaintiff's medical and mental status.

15 IT IS SO ORDERED.

27 <sup>3</sup> After the October 27, 2014 status conference, Deputy Attorney General John L. Ward, IV, filed a Notice of General Benjamin Johnson is no longer associated with this case. (Doc. # 45.)
